LETTING NATURE TEACH

A great joy in living is to discover our innate powers. These powers are normally dismissed by society as non-existent or unimportant. The psychic or sensitive faculties that each one of us possess are very necessary protective instincts for little children. These faculties are destroyed by the educational processes that a young child goes through in their growth and maturation. These same faculties are employed by a creative mind, to see with the mind's eye instead of the physical eye. This innate capacity to see is a product of the stimulation of the pineal gland. The utilization of this field brings into being an image which transcends the normal electro-magnetic spectrum. This faculty is called projective visualization; in psychophysical terminology it is called clairvoyance.

Each of these extended faculties require the generation of a field within the body of the person and the utilization of this field to elicit an electronic response in the sensory region of the brain. By this means, a person can see without the optic organ, hear without the hearing mechanism and feel without touching. We can develop these extended faculties with love, for our highest mental and spiritual good. This development, an infinite source of power, is available to all - It is the love of God. The basic teaching that Christ gave to mankind is to love one another as he had loved us. The best teacher we have at this time, of these sensitive faculties, is nature. She has been given to us by Divine love, to teach, to open our mind, our heart and our spirit. We can see the balance and order that is everywhere, if we just look and feel.

Take a leaf in your hand, look at it, take a deep breath, close your eyes and as you release your breath. Become one with the leaf. Relax your body and feel the vibration and allow this leaf to stimulate your mind's eye. This will not be what you see with the physical eye. Open your eyes and record your impressions. Take another deep breath, close your eyes, release your breath into the leaf and hear the note that comes from this leaf. Doing this in a loving way gives you the teaching to begin to understand what it means to be at one with the love of God. Alexander Graham Bell found that when light was impinged on a flower or a leaf, this light energy was converted by the leaf into a sound which could be picked up by a microphone and recorded on a strip chart recorder. This equipment is now being sold by the Bell Laboratories under the title of Opto Acoustic Spectroscope. We have this same faculty within us to hear and experience the effect of nature stimulated by light. This note is characteristic of the form of the object. Take another deep breath, close your eyes and release your breath into the leaf. Now mentally run your finger over the surface of the leaf. Store your impression and run your opposing finger physically over the leaf. Do it more and more lightly until your finger is a fraction of an inch above the surface of the leaf. Now experience the etheric vibration with your finger tip.

These exercises can be done every day as you walk among the trees, plants and wild flowers. Mentally become part of the environment. Every emotionional faculty that we express is personified in the sound, smells, feel and colors of nature.

The Bach Flower Remedies and the Flower Essences are examples of how these vibrations can be extracted and stored in alcohol-water mixtures. This is done by the triggering action of sunlight acting on the fully evolved flower placed in an alcohol-water mixture. We can draw the same essence contained in the Bach Flower Remedies by placing the palm of our hand over the flower and drawing the breath in with love. This act transfers the vibration of the flower into the body and amplifies the faculties which are inherent in us manifold. The same can be done with crystals, minerals, and the metals of nature. Each one of these possess an inherent vibration which can be drawn into the body. We can amplify these fields with breath. Let the vibration amplify that faculty within us, to give us a deeper understanding of who we are and where we are going.

THE PERKINS MACHINE

The second model, the Omega 4 machine has been delivered to this laboratory. It has been thoroughly tested for the last two months. The result is an acceptable machine for measuring: the charge present in crystals, the charge present in water of various types, and the charge present in homeopathic and Bach Flower remedies. An instruction manual procedure for operation has been written. The Omega 4 will be available for sale in the next months. [The price is $1,000 plus tax & handling]

EXPERIMENT NO. 15 MEASURING THE EFFECT OF CRYSTALS ON THE BODY

Get various samples of stones. [You can purchase these in a very nice kit form from Arizona Gems & Minerals, Inc., 6370 Highway 69, Prescott, AZ 86309] Now let us see what effect these stones have on our physical body. We will work in the witness [thymus] region of the body, and use the principle of reflexology to determine whether there is a weakening or strengthening of the energies of the body.

Have a person close their eyes and extend their arm. Put a slight downward pressure on their arm so that the basic resistance, or strength can be determined. Give the person, with their eyes still closed, a sample of crystal and have them place it on the witness area. [Two to three fingers below the low point at the base of the throat] Have them ask the question, "Is this stone good for me to wear or have on my body?" Where there is a weakening of the body energies place these stones on the pile marked weak. Where there is a strengthening place them on the pile marked strong. Generally, the darker or black gem stones will absorb the energies of the body and weaken the body. One can nullify that effect by combining the dark stone with quartz crystal. The addition of crystal tends to nullify the negative effects of various gem stones in their depleating action on the body of an individual. By this means you can arrive at the combination of stones which give the amplifying properties required to make these into therapeutic devices, to be worn.

EXPERIMENT NO. 16 THE EFFECT OF SHAPE IN THE AMPLIFYING AND WEAKENING ACTION OF GEM STONES.

Cut out of cardboard; a circle, a rectangle, a triangle and a square. Make all of these about two inches across. Now glue [for the temporary phase use plyobond or rubber cement, when you have the pattern you desire use a 5 minute epoxy resin] various samples of minerals to the cardboard making patterns and shapes. Always use a small piece of crystal in the center. You will be surprised and amazed at some of the combinations and their effect on you. I recommend you get samples of natural magnetite, malachite, etc. Break the samples into small chips, a quarter inch in size, and make various arrangements on the cardboard backing. You will find that certain combinations of stone and geometry produce remarkable enhancing effects.

What we are dealing with are uncut chips of the stones. We are working with the essential vibration of the mineral and a shape factor form in the arrangement of the stones. By combining the geometry with a composite of stones, you will find arrangements which will act on the emotional body. This can help to relieve tension, stress, and a feeling of tiredness. You may also be able to bring to your body a sense of levity and wellbeing. To clear these arrangements use a bulk eraser and/or the hands in opposing directions and the pulsing of breath. Let us know your results and we will publish them in our newsletter.

RESEARCH LABORATORY

Research with University of Calif at Davis - We are now completing the essential protocol necessary for a systematic study of these subtle energies. We are studying: 1. a question of timing between each epoch, 2. the care of the person being experimented on, 3. the preparation of the experimenter, 4. the possibility of observing and measuring intention. We have prepared our samples for a double blind experiment with both crystal and non-crystalline materials encased in cardboard tubes, all the same dimension and weight. The tubes will be numbered and no one will know their contents until we have finished the experimental runs we plan to make. The Mendicino Microcomputer is now functioning and the data that has been released appears to give satisfactory results.

Structuring of water - A set of critical experiments were conducted with distilled water, reverse osmosis water, reverse osmosis water plus silica and reverse osmosis water plus powdered quartz. These were all charged with the charging device we have developed. The most powerful result was obtained with the addition of powdered quartz to the reverse osmosis water.

Sound experiments - We have concentrated our work, this month, on the effect of drums on structuring water. The results are a marked improvement in the overall charge that the water takes on and the optical microscopy that we note in the crystal growths that take place with water charged with drums. This will be reported on in detail in a future newsletter.

Wine experiments We are in the process of applying for a patent on the structured wine technology. This will be the precursor to a number of applications as the scientific understanding unfolds. This should allow us to afford to move forward with research that has been too expensive to date, without outside funding.

THINGS TO PONDER

Man is made in the image and likeness of God. How does man manifest this divine quality? He does this by forgetting self, developing the not self, letting the essence of God's love flow in and through him. When we allow each person around us to be themselves, we in turn can come to grips with, and understand that divine power. The act of loving gives to that person we love the privilege of making mistakes. To my mind the greatest proof of GOD'S LOVE for us is that we are capable of making mistakes. From our mistakes we can grow in knowledge, love and understanding of the Divine Mind. Watching nature we see a continual interplay between various life forms which interplay bringing a sense of balance and order to the forces around us. By this means we too must interplay with our fellow man and the forces of nature, to see them, and ourself in a clear light. It is so easy to find fault, but how many times a day do we stop to think and thank Him for the gifts He has provided. [M.V.]

THE IMPORTANCE OF A STRONG SUPPORT SYSTEM, BY DR. ROZANNE BAZINET, PhD.

A strong support system is an energetic connection which feeds us and nurtures. In stressful times and triumphant times we can be sustained and applauded by these friends. This system includes people who will give us honest, loving feedback and accept us as we are.

There is a growing body of scientific investigation proposing that thought can affect matter. When we touch someone else a charge is transferred to the other person. Our words do the same. This charge feeds the subtle body, commonly known as the aura. We must be willing to speak up when our needs are not being acknowledged. This is self value and self love.

I want to focus on how we support ourselves. There are several components to this system. First; Do you spend time recharging or de-stressing the body, mind and spirit? It is important to release built up tension. Second, we must communicate our concerns so that our needs can be met. While others may be able to read our thoughts, they often project onto those thoughts their perceptions of who they think we are and what is going on. As we speak up, we clarify their perceptions. Third, we can use the world of nature to help us rejuvenate. Nature sends out positive vibrations which can also help us nurture ourselves. Help the world help you to get where you want to go.

Dr. Bazinet, has recently been hired by the Alinda Youth Services of Charmingichael, CA. She is a member of the Counseling Department and will be training the staff in "subtle energies." She recommends these books: ENERGY AND PERSONAL POWER by Shirley Luthman. Pub., Mehetabel & Co., 4340 Redwood Hwy. Suite 307, San Rafael, CA 94903, 1982. PROFILE - DR. HENRY GLOVER, M.D.

Henry Glover, M.D. has been engaged in research work at P.R.I. since September, 1984. He devoted the initial months to the microscopic study and photomicrography of various crystalline structures, and the effects in these structures consequent to exposure of crystalline solutions to quartz crystals charged with "pranic" energy. Evidence of "pranic" energy transference evoking structural change was observed most dramatically in the case of silica and copper sulfate solutions.

Micro-spectrophotometric studies were initially performed with the Zeiss microscope and attached computerized read-out to detect subtle changes in the color spectrums of similarly charged crystalline solutions, and these studies were later enhanced with the acquisition of a Cary 15 spectrophotometer. Meticulous study of various wines, varieties of waters, and dye-indicator solutions ensued under a variety of conditions taking into account numerous variables - such as type or absence of light, effect of various sounds, degree of exposure to a charged crystal, nature of application of the charge (direct vs crustal), artefacts contributed by structural elements of the charging apparatus, temperature, mode of measurement (visual vs ultraviolet light) and numerous other factors which could play a role in affecting the detection of this very subtle energy transference.

The results of all of these studies, representing an attempt to clearly document in a scientific fashion the empiric changes elicited with crystals - as previously reported in this Newsletter and elsewhere - have been carefully monitored and are currently undergoing further review to lend direction and emphasis to the methodology to be pursued in the future studies.

It is Dr. Glover's feeling that while the groundwork has been laid, many more questions have been raised than answered up to this point, and further intensive study surely seems warranted.

Dr. Glover's training and background have been in the specialty fields of both Clinical and Anatomic Pathology, as well as Psychiatry, and he has in addition spent a number of years prior to joining P.R.I. exploring and utilizing various holistic techniques, including massage, Shiatsu, Reike, voice analysis, Touch for Health, Therapeutic Touch, and crystal healing. He served as Medical Director of a holistic center in Southern California prior to joining P.R.I.
